INTRODUCTION:

The Environment Education Programme (EEP) is a component of the revamped Central Sector Scheme, Environment Education, Awareness, Research and Skill Development (EEAESD). It is intended to support the efforts of the Ministry of Education in formal education by promoting non-formal environmental learning through a range of academic and awareness-based initiatives. The programme aims to create environmental awareness among children and youth and encourage them to adopt sustainable lifestyles through various educational activities, including workshops, projects, exhibitions, campaigns, competitions, nature camps, and summer vacation programmes. These initiatives are designed to foster critical thinking and help young people cultivate habits and attitudes that encourage living in harmony with nature.

The Nagaland Pollution Control Board, acting as the Implementing Agency (IA), conducted various activities for the target beneficiaries, including Sustainable Lifestyle Workshops, competitions, exhibitions, and nature camps. The Sustainable Lifestyle Workshops were designed to encourage scientific thinking, critical analysis, creativity, compassion, and empathy among participants. They also provided opportunities to explore and experience sustainable practices that minimize resource consumption, pollution, and waste generation. Nature camps helped participants gain a deeper understanding and appreciation of India's rich biodiversity, diverse ecosystems, flora, and fauna, while also sensitizing them to the environmental threats affecting their survival. Furthermore, thematic competitions such as quizzes, debates, essay writing, painting, physical activities, and community engagement programmes enabled beneficiaries to express their ideas and spread environmental awareness among the public. These initiatives were carried out in alignment with the Lifestyle for Environment (LiFE) Mission initiative of the Prime Minister.

The Government of India, Ministry of Environment, Forest & Climate Change (EE Division) vide letter No.3-3/2022-EE Dated August 12, 2025, vide letter No. 3-3/2022-EE Dated September 10, 2025, vide letter No. 3-3/2022-EE Dated January 27, 2026, the amount of Rs. 53,95,844/- in 1st, 2nd & 3rd Tranches and 35,93,043/- in 4th Tranche respectively, with a total amount of Rs. 1,97,80,575/- received by the Implementing Agency (IA) Nagaland Pollution Control Board (NPCB), to organized following activities:

- 1. Sustainable Lifestyle Workshops
- 2. Competitions
- 3. Nature Camps

1. SUSTAINABLE LIFESTYLE WORKSHOPS

Sustainable lifestyles encompass patterns of living, social practices, and day-to-day choices that aim to reduce environmental degradation by minimizing the excessive use of natural resources, lowering carbon emissions, reducing waste generation, and preventing pollution, while simultaneously supporting inclusive socio-economic development and improving the overall quality of life for present and future generations. The concept also emphasizes the importance of understanding how individual and collective lifestyle choices affect the environment and encourages the adoption of practices that enable people to live in a more responsible, balanced, and environmentally conscious manner.

In line with these objectives, the Implementing Agency: Nagaland Pollution Control Board organized a series of Sustainable Lifestyle Workshops covering a wide range of themes, including bamboo crafts and basket weaving, banana fibre weaving, woodcraft, construction of rainwater harvesting systems in homes, schools, and offices, and the segregation of dry and wet waste at the household level. These workshops were designed not only to enhance practical skills among students and participants but also to create awareness about the importance of adopting environmentally sustainable practices in everyday life.

The workshops on bamboo crafts, banana fibre weaving, and woodcraft introduced participants to the use of natural, biodegradable, and eco-friendly materials as sustainable alternatives to single-use plastics and other environmentally harmful products. Through hands-on demonstrations and interactive sessions, students gained a deeper understanding of the economic, cultural, and environmental significance of these traditional and sustainable practices. The programmes also highlighted how locally available natural resources can be utilized responsibly to promote sustainable livelihoods while reducing environmental impacts.

In addition, sessions on rainwater harvesting focused on the importance of water conservation and efficient utilization of natural resources. Participants were educated on simple and practical methods of collecting and storing rainwater for domestic and institutional use, thereby encouraging water sustainability and reducing dependence on conventional water sources. Similarly, awareness programmes on waste segregation emphasized the need for separating dry and wet waste at the source to ensure effective waste management, recycling, and safe disposal practices. Proper segregation and scientific handling of waste play a vital role in minimizing pollution, reducing the burden on landfills, and promoting a cleaner and healthier environment.

Overall, these Sustainable Lifestyle Workshops served as an effective platform for sensitizing students and the wider community about environmental conservation, sustainable resource management, and the adoption of eco-friendly practices that contribute towards building a more sustainable and resilient future.

1.1: Bamboo Crafts & Basket Weaving: As bamboo is abundantly available in Nagaland, students and participants were given hands-on training on its sustainable and eco-friendly uses. The programme promoted bamboo-based alternatives to single-use plastic products such as spoons, forks, and baskets to encourage environmentally responsible practices and reduce plastic pollution. A workshop on bamboo crafts and basket weaving was organized for students from eight schools at the Nagaland Bamboo Resource Centre, where participants learned traditional bamboo craftsmanship and gained practical experience in creating sustainable bamboo products. Photographs of the activities have been included in the photo gallery.

1.2: Sustainable Lifestyle workshop on Banana Fibre Weaving:

Banana fibre products are strong, durable, versatile, and environmentally friendly, as they require no chemicals during cultivation or fibre extraction. The fibre also possesses excellent moisture absorption properties, making it suitable for the production of a wide range of sustainable products. To promote awareness about eco-friendly alternatives, hands-on training programmes on banana fibre weaving were organized for students and participants.

During the workshops, participants were trained in weaving banana fibre to create various useful products such as baskets, key chains, coasters, and other decorative and household items. The sessions also focused on educating students about the environmental benefits and practical advantages of banana fibre products, particularly their potential to serve as sustainable alternatives to single-use plastic items. Through these interactive and skill-based activities, participants gained a better understanding of sustainable resource utilization and environmentally responsible living practices. Altogether, students from ten different schools participated in the Sustainable Lifestyle Workshop on banana fibre weaving, where they were provided with practical exposure and encouraged to adopt eco-friendly practices that contribute towards reducing plastic waste and promoting sustainable living.

1:3: Create rainwater harvesting infrastructure in homes/schools/offices: A comprehensive workshop was organized on the creation and construction of low-cost rainwater harvesting infrastructure for schools, homes, and offices. The workshop aimed to enhance awareness among students and citizens about the importance of conserving and efficiently utilizing natural resources, particularly water. Participants were introduced to practical and affordable rainwater harvesting techniques that can be easily implemented in different settings to promote sustainable water management practices. The programme also included detailed discussions and deliberations on various customized, effective, and efficient rainwater harvesting methods suitable for local conditions and community needs. Through these interactive sessions, participants gained knowledge about water conservation strategies, storage systems, and the long-term environmental and economic benefits of rainwater harvesting. The workshop further encouraged students to act as agents of change by disseminating the knowledge and awareness gained to their families, communities, and other target groups, thereby promoting wider adoption of sustainable water conservation practices. Altogether, student from four different districts participated in the Sustainable Lifestyle Workshop on Rainwater Harvesting.

1.4: Sustainable lifestyle workshop to inculcate the practice of segregation of dry and wet waste at homes: Workshops and seminars were conducted in educational institutions to help students understand the importance of segregating dry and wet waste for effective household waste management. The programmes highlighted how proper waste segregation and handling can reduce pollution caused by waste mismanagement and promote a cleaner environment. Altogether, 30 schools from various districts of Nagaland participated in the Sustainable Lifestyle Workshops.

1.5: Sustainable Lifestyle workshop on woodcraft: A comprehensive workshop and hands-on training programme on woodcraft was organized to promote creativity, practical learning, and sustainable lifestyle practices among students. Woodcraft was introduced as an effective medium for artistic expression and creative design, enabling participants to explore their imagination and develop innovative ideas through practical activities. The workshop provided students with an opportunity to learn the basics of woodworking and gain hands-on experience in handling tools, designing products, and constructing simple wooden items. The programme also highlighted the educational value of woodwork as a multidisciplinary learning activity that integrates various subjects such as mathematics, science, engineering, and technology. Through measurement, design, construction, and experimentation, students were encouraged to apply mathematical thinking, scientific understanding, and problem-solving skills in a practical setting. By working with different tools and materials, participants also developed technical knowledge, motor skills, teamwork, and an understanding of basic engineering concepts. In addition, the workshop played an important role in enhancing students' creative and critical thinking abilities. Participants were encouraged to experiment with different designs, explore the possibilities of wood as a material, and express their ideas through the creation of functional and decorative wooden products. Such activities helped build confidence, innovation, patience, and decision-making skills among the students. The programme further emphasized the importance of using wood-based products as eco-friendly and sustainable alternatives to single-use plastic items. Students were made aware of the environmental benefits of adopting natural and biodegradable materials in daily life, thereby promoting environmentally responsible behaviour and sustainable consumption practices. Altogether, students from eight different schools participated in the woodcraft workshop, where they gained valuable practical knowledge and developed a greater appreciation for sustainable craftsmanship and environmental conservation.

Competitions/ Activities

Competitions/Activities: Competitions, awareness programmes, and various educational activities were organized for Eco Club students to commemorate important environmental observances such as World Environment Day, World Ozone Day, and World Wetlands Day. These programmes were conducted with the objective of creating environmental awareness among students and encouraging active participation in environmental protection and conservation activities. Educational institutions across Nagaland, including schools, colleges, and universities, took part in organizing awareness initiatives to sensitize students on the importance of wetlands, ozone layer protection, environmental sustainability, biodiversity conservation, and the need for responsible environmental practices. A wide range of activities were carried out to mark these important environmental days. Plantation drives and cleanliness campaigns were organized to encourage community participation and promote cleaner and greener surroundings. Interactive awareness programmes such as seminars, workshops, and discussions were conducted to educate students about pressing environmental challenges, climate change, pollution control, conservation of natural resources, and sustainable lifestyle practices. These sessions also provided students with opportunities to interact with experts, teachers, and environmental practitioners, thereby strengthening their understanding of environmental issues and solutions. In addition, several thematic competitions were organized to encourage creativity, critical thinking, and active student participation. Competitions such as essay writing, speech, painting, poster-making, and drawing enabled students to express their ideas, concerns, and perspectives on environmental conservation through creative and academic platforms. These activities not only enhanced environmental awareness but also inspired students to become responsible citizens and advocates for sustainable development within their communities. The programmes witnessed active participation from approximately 771 schools across Nagaland, reflecting a strong commitment from educational institutions towards promoting environmental education and awareness among young learners. The detailed list of participating schools has been provided in Annexure I.

Nature Camps

Nature Camps: The Nature Camp was organized with the objective of providing participants an opportunity to disconnect from the pressures and routine of daily life and immerse themselves in nature and outdoor recreational activities. The camp aimed to offer students an enriching and immersive experience in pristine natural environments, with a strong focus on environmental education, biodiversity exploration, and developing a sense of responsibility and care towards nature among the participating students. The programme was designed to expose students to the rich biodiversity and ecological significance of natural ecosystems while educating them about environmental conservation, sustainable living practices, and the importance of protecting natural resources. Through hands-on learning experiences in natural settings, the camp encouraged participants to develop a deeper connection with the environment and gain a better understanding of the interdependence between humans and nature. The camp also sought to instill awareness among students regarding the importance of forests, flora, and fauna, and how various species coexist in harmony within ecosystems.

As part of the activities, students embarked on guided hikes and nature trails through the scenic landscapes and forests of the western side of the famous Dzüko Valley, including Tsuchoru (Phema Khel Forest & Biodiversity Reserve Area), Jakhama, Dzukozu terraced fields, and Cheneche Hill. The treks were accompanied by knowledgeable guides who provided valuable insights into the local biodiversity, flora, fauna, and ecological importance of the region. During the trekking activities, some participants also undertook waste collection drives along the Khonoma–Dzüko trekking trail and in Dzüleke, thereby promoting environmental responsibility and cleanliness in natural areas. The camp further provided students with an immersive experience in the pristine natural surroundings of Dzüleke and the Sheep Farm at Poilwa in Peren District, allowing them to closely interact with nature and learn about biodiversity conservation practices. Reflection sessions were also conducted during the camp, where students shared their experiences, observations, and thoughts gained from the programme. These discussions encouraged participants to reflect on environmental issues and the importance of preserving fragile ecosystems.

A variety of outdoor and educational activities were organized during the camp to cater to the diverse interests of participants. These included scenic hiking activities along designated trails, where students explored the natural beauty of the surrounding landscapes and enjoyed panoramic views of the region. Guided nature walks were also conducted to introduce participants to the local flora and fauna and to highlight the ecological significance and biodiversity of the area. Participants stayed in tents arranged by the organizers in designated camping areas equipped with basic facilities, providing them with a memorable outdoor camping experience that combined adventure, learning, and recreation. The Nature Camp also emphasized the importance of outdoor activities in promoting physical and mental well-being, while encouraging students to reconnect with nature and appreciate the environment more deeply.

Overall, the Nature Camp proved to be a highly enriching and transformative experience for school and college students. It successfully fostered environmental awareness, inspired sustainable living practices, and empowered participants to take proactive steps towards environmental conservation and responsible community participation. The programme ultimately helped instill a lasting sense of responsibility towards protecting nature and preserving ecological balance for future generations.
