Foreword

With an aim to cement non-formal environment education activities across the country and forge a close bond between children/youth with nature, Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change, GOVT OF INDIA, revamped the scheme of Environment Education, Awareness and Training (EEAT) into Environment Education Programme. The intent was to sensitise children/youth on issues relating to environment and to nudge them towards a sustainable lifestyle through pedagogical initiatives like workshops, projects, exhibitions, campaigns, competitions, nature camps and other awareness programs etc. Centre for Environmental Studies being the State Implementing Agency has been the torchbearer for implementing pro-environmental activities as envisaged by the Ministry to mould an environmentally conscious young generation.

Initially for the session 2022-23, CES proposed to conduct some activities to the Ministry such as 10 nos. of exhibitions, 10 nos of capacity building, 20 nos. of nature camp and 500 nos. of Campaigns. Despite the paucity of time, all activities were completed by the Schools/ Colleges and District authorities.

We have provided training to 500 selected teachers through 10 capacity building training Programs. To inculcate an appreciation and love for nature in students through explorations of the wilderness, 1000 students were given the opportunity to join nature camps and learning programs, where they participated in different activities like trekking, bird watching, identification of plants, life cycle and habitat discovery of animals etc.

10 numbers of exhibitions were also organized in 10 districts where in 50 participants from different schools exhibited their models on sustainable lifestyle on 7 themes like energy conservation, waste reduction, plastic free school campus, making of mini nursery, making of kitchen garden or rooftop garden, vermicomposting and adoption of sustainable lifestyle. For one exhibition, 50 students and 50 guide teachers were involved and it witnessed a footfall of more than 5000 numbers of students and general public. Sustainable lifestyle was promoted through these programs and the enthusiasm and interest of the visitors gave us positive and heartening vibes.

Capacity Building Programs for teachers on the concerned themes for promoting sustainable lifestyle and the trainings imparted were mainly skill based or product based. The trained teachers were supposed to implement these activities in their concerned institutions of their locality. 100 schools/colleges were assigned for each activity and the results are palpable. It is encouraging to know that almost 100 schools have installed vermicomposting pit in their premises and they keep sharing their ideas through practical demonstrations so that others can emulate such good practices effectively. Similarly some districts have arranged mega awareness campaigns through rallies & meetings.

Some of the schools were working on development of mini nurseries and we got a very good response of growing nurseries or developed nurseries. Kitchen/rooftop gardens have already been developed in many schools and they are now reaping the benefits.

With limited numbers of schools, the response we received through this Programme has been phenomenal. We hope to add more schools under this program in the next financial year and expand this Programme to touch the lives of more and more people, guiding and motivating them towards a green, sustainable life. We are thankful for the effort of each and every individual of Centre for Environmental Studies, District Authorities, teachers and students involved in promoting environmental awareness and mobilizing students' participation for environment conservation and thus perfecting this Programme.
